

The design provides the affordable wood framed housing to the region, including Old Town Shanghai, without implementing a physical footprint on the Shanghai ground. The model also has different layers of a typical city, such as housing, recreation, transportation, and business, thus forming "The Supporting City" above the city of Shanghai.